ANNUAL PUBLICATION of the STUDENT BODY MEDICAL COLLEGE of VIRGINIA

CHARLES L. WILLIAMS, Editor
EDMUND N. GOULDIN, Business Manager

VOLUME THIRTY-FIVE
IN THIS, the 1948 X-RAY, it has been the purpose of the staff to present, in an interesting manner, a pictorial account of the varied phases of student life at the Medical College of Virginia.

As the years go by, it becomes increasingly difficult to publish an annual that is altogether unique. The task has not been easy, and in the interest of economy we were forced to omit certain material which we feel should have been included. Nevertheless, we have worked long and diligently, and are happy to have had the privilege of compiling this issue.

Perhaps few of us realize that at some future day, when we are busily engaged with the problems and perplexities of our chosen professions, we will look back on our sojourn at M. C. V. and record it among the “golden days” of our lives, although the going was, at times, necessarily “tough.”

It is our sincere hope that this volume will furnish a record that will help one recall the friendships, the joys and cares that these few years have afforded.

To Our Students:

Father confessor, advisor at many points, doctor by day or night, at homes near or far—that and more is the family physician. He shares the joys and sorrows of his patients and their communities and has been the ideal of many a youngster who said to himself, "I am going to be that kind of a doctor."

The family physician has been a real institution but he is fast disappearing. The most plausible hope of stopping this trend is a program to decentralize medicine, to build hospitals and health-service centers at strategic points, and to extend every possible assistance from the medical schools and the larger medical centers to these outlying agencies in so far as requested. These services include, in instances, interns on a rotating basis, visiting physicians, pathologists, radiologists, dietitians, nurses, hospital administrators, and others to provide whatever the local hospital or health-service center may find useful. Thus, the best that the medical center has to offer can be shared with the family physician and the local specialist, practically eliminating isolation which is feared by many, and sending out of the community for medical care only those really needing service elsewhere. Under such an arrangement there may well be an important place for the medical student.

When students and interns observe such a system in operation they will see a new place for the family physician as well as a place for the specialist, and in turn this should react upon medical education, both undergraduate and graduate, in the direction of broader preparation for the new role of the family physician, whom all of us will be glad to call in as friend and doctor.

Sincerely yours,

William T. Sanger,
President.

SCHOOL of MEDICINE
To our pathologist, who as physician, scientist, teacher and friend, so ably prepared us for the clinical years, this section is respectfully dedicated by the Class of 1948.
Four years have been required to effect the transition from the hesitant, stumbling pronunciation of hemoglobin to the easy, precise enunciation of socialdemocratic (just like that!). This is the period that was needed to transform the bachelor into the doctor. How much more will be necessary to make the doctor into a physician?

The years have passed rapidly. There are many pleasant memories.

The First Year: Bewilderment. Many nights—and even a few weeks—laboring over Gross; the carefree atmosphere of the dissecting room on the Saturday night before a Monday quiz. Embryology—how did that fetus get in that blank jar anyhow, huh? Neuro-anatomy: "At this magnification..." Biochemistry: "Do you recall the structural formulae of those twenty-five amino acids?"

The Second Year: Sympatheticolonia. Pathology: The Bryan Award to R. Mason. Physiology: "W-a-al, sixty-six puts you in the upper third." Clinical Pathology: Oh, shade of things to come! Pharmacology: "Mis-TER B...! How many grains in a gram?" The end of the year and over the hump. Dean Gray goes to Oklahoma...

The Third Year: We Clinicians. The Dean's Committee... Haag, Bahaman, Baker. The Transfers: A fine bunch. Medicine: "Actually, gentlemen, we know so little about liver function—and we have a number of tests to prove it." Obstetrics: "Grim and bear with..." The last of "Calling First Outside O.R. Doctor?" Surgery: "Will we have that quiz tomorrow?" Orthopedic: And it was in the Handbook all the time! Physical Medicine: Sin x dx. log cos ab = 4 equates to sixty students q.d. equals O quiz... and only seventeen more courses to fill in our idle hours.

The Fourth (and last) Year: "Oh, yeah?" Dean Haag—Mr. Bahaman as his assistant... Surgery: Fear and trembling on Friday night and then, on Saturday, the P.T.T. Medicine: "Why don't the patients read the textbooks?" Pediatrics: Anecdotally a collapse! Obstetrics: Twenty-four-hour stats... "A howling success!" Neuropsychiatry: We are all. Many fine times at the S and B, the frat houses, and at the dances. Finally came June—and the Class of 1948 was graduated.

It is impossible to mention the men whose humanity, knowledge, and teaching ability have placed these years among the most pleasant of our lives. In the same way the contributions of each of us to the class as a whole cannot be listed. It is with mixed feeling that we leave MCY—we must progress and, as always, we must leave behind.

CLASS HISTORY

Juniors—imagine! Precursor-clinicians one might say. September came again, and we enthusiastically entered the wards, green though we were. We really heard ourselves called "Doctor" now, and remember how we beamed the first two or three times we were telepaged with that title. We bought our little black bags and started out, but new patients, stats, blood counts, liver function tests, first-up, histories, physicals, even rarely "the pit"—all descended upon us as a tidal wave and we almost drowned.

Little by little, however, we began to come to the surface and swim—at first only a stroke or two at a time, but gradually more until we finally didn't make fools of ourselves more than once or twice a week, anyway. Erroneous impressions gave place to correct ones, at least as a third choice, or "to be ruled out." We anticipated orders for WBC's, even recognized mitral stenotic and aortic regurgitation murmurs and a positive Brudzinski when we were exposed to them.

We learned how to treat a diabetic coma—the hard way, sugars and acetones q ½ hour and on into the night. Mr. Smith quizzed us before everybody and scared us half to death. Lectures were spiced with occasional unannounced sessions of mental calisthenics—surgery, pediatric, urology. What a life! Jacque found that the best reply to Dr. Harry Walker's questions was "cause." And then came weekly exams just to keep us "on the ball." Art Hubbard graciously spent most of the year projecting slides, for free. Our profs learned not to be late unless they wished to be telephoned by President 'Chickie.' Poor Johnny Ray caught heck for everything he did or didn't do. Dr. Doboy was always ready with a question. Third quarter—the staff took pity on us and provided one good hour for bridge and the pin-ball machine, on Saturday mornings in place of tropical medicine.

And came spring; it was pretty tough for those on medicine and OB the last two months. Then suddenly we found ourselves face to face with exams, wondering how the year slipped by so quickly and how we could ever read Cecil, Christopher and Sutton all in one week—but we managed some way, as we always have before, and as we hope to do just one more time—next year, that is.

CLASS HISTORY

TWO away . . . the bald heads have become balder, grey heads greyer; little families are larger while new families have started. Through it all the class of "old goats" has made its way. We've learned much—most important is that we know there is much more to learn.

The gift to work, worry, and hope has been given us. The adjustment to put more effort into work and less into worry is an individual problem which most of us have solved. Special credit must be given to Dr. Apperly of Pathology and Dr. Haag of Pharmacology for giving us humor mixed with teaching to keep us smiling while we work.

Classroom experiences we cannot forget are the fateful oral recitations of Doctors Haag and Walker; just like having darts thrown at us—nobody feels safe and everyone knows there must be a victim. Oh, for a peek at the grade book! ! The uncertainty of our pursuit is eclipsed only by evanescent Father Time's meager dole to medical students.

We are grateful for all of those who instructed us. Not one has ever been too busy to stop and clear up any questions in his field that might have troubled us. The material has been given as a basis. We have yet to supply the correlation and effort as we now hopefully pass on to the second half of our training.

CLASS HISTORY

A ND so came the Class of '51 in the fall of '47... Many in our class hadn't seen books for years. They had crammed so many frogs, dogfish, and a bit of HCl to digest it all, into the last two college semesters that it was about to come "bustin' out all over"... but it didn't take long for the McGuire Hall all-powerfuls to settle us down. And we were really low down after that small quiz on the upper extremity. Norman was the man who put us quickly on our feet by announcing the first "blessed event" of the year... we had our first class son!!

We were settled—things were going smoothly. Any of the girls could now tell you who was or wasn't married; Cooley sneaked out on them and got married; Hermer jumped into politics, and Miller and the Dardens played varsity basketball. We were making our name.

Embryology over, and neuro was so pleasant—at first. Christmas came and went and we were ready and waiting for exams to come and go. But, we now had a family of three—Phil and Gene had presented us with son and daughter. Two, in as many days (our average is improving).

February 28th... we had finished one-sixth of our student career. We celebrated!! Some by sleeping for twenty-eight hours and some by discovering that other things came in glass besides anomalies. Rest, peace, and only the thought that we might be out already.

The "eager beavers" started eagerly to work in bio and bact, while most of us just started to work. Spring had come, our fancies were normal, and so we played our share. Now, with the summer before us—and a hard but interesting year behind—'51 is looking forward to the days which lie ahead.

THE Physical Therapy Training School of the Medical College of Virginia was approved by the American Medical Association in 1945. Requirements for admission and the minimum essential curriculum are now set by the Council on Medical Education and Hospitals of the A. M. A.

A twelve months' course is offered which begins in September on the date of the opening of the regular school year. The curriculum includes the basic sciences (anatomy, physiology, pathology and physics), medical lectures, technical subjects and clinical practice. The last three months are devoted entirely to clinical practice and is done either locally or in affiliated centers throughout the country which are approved by the Medical College of Virginia for preceptorial teaching. Thus a candidate for certification in Physical Therapy may serve his clinical apprenticeship in the regional area which he plans eventually to be employed.

The Physical Therapy Training School of the Medical College of Virginia serves more than just the Commonwealth of Virginia. Approximately three-quarters of its students come from other states representing nearly all parts of the country. During the last three years the school has trained 114 students, many having been admitted for the first time in September, 1947.

Physical therapy is one of three adjutant medical services aimed at expediting convalescence of the sick and disabled, and during the past twenty-five years has grown steadily in professional stature. It is part of the modern program of physical medicine which includes physical therapy, rehabilitation and occupational therapy.

The Physical Therapist serves as the agent of the physician, treating the patient in his place and stead, and works under the supervision of a specialist in physical medicine known as a Physiatrist. He treats the patient only on referral from a doctor, and administers the treatment prescribed by the latter. This consists of the application for therapeutic purposes of such physical agents as heat, light, water, and electricity, and the use of exercise and massage.
SCHOOL of DENTISTRY
In sincere appreciation of his friendliness and consideration for the student, and his ability and dignity as a professional man, this section is respectfully dedicated by the Class of 1948.
WE have at last come to graduation and the required four years of subservience and struggle have terminated, we hope! Though the going was seldom easy, all of us will be able to look back on the time spent here in Dental School with varying sentiments. It has been said that conditions under which we exist are never so bad that rays of hope and brightness do not creep in occasionally, and so it was with Dental School.

To retrace our steps for several years...as Freshmen we entered school under the accelerated program, and such a program of study was not a misnomer. Truly, life as a whole was accelerated, particularly the vacations, before it seemed possible.

Entrance to the clinic was heralded with much ado. At last! The sighs went around. As most dental students will agree, entrance to the clinic is a welcomed change in events, that is, after you've gotten over the scare of your first patient.

In the clinic there appeared another plague with which we had to cope. "Fearless Dan McGehee" came to the front to set the pace. "Twas rumored he had set as his goal for the two-year clinic interlude fifty-seven units of crown and bridge and nineteen partial dentures. As the time of graduation approaches, the class is prone to believe that he exceeded his quota since crown and bridge patients are as scarce as "hen's teeth," and there is a great influx of full dentures being made in order to utilize the allotted twenty-five per cent of the clinic time in Dr. Little's Sweat Shop.

Just in case too dark a picture has been painted of the four years spent here at the Medical College, it is with mutual agreement that we say the work has been tough, but we've loved it. The friendships made among us are treasures we will cherish throughout life, and it is with reluctance and a touch of nostalgia that we part and go our separate paths.

CLASS HISTORY

FAR from the madding crowd in some rustic hamlet, next to the general store and above the corner apothecary, is a shining white dental unit and chair. This is the Junior's dream. Come what may next year, come Senior surveys, crown and bridge—to hell with 'em—every damn one of us'll have a white dental unit and chair. Let every corner drug store take notice. We'll be there.

Three years ago many of us did not know what a dental unit looked like. Most of us knew only that dentistry was concerned with teeth. However, things are now looking up. Would you care to discuss the love-life of the third molar, or the incidence of the cusp of Carabelli in left-handed Mongolians? That is the lighter side of dentistry.

On the other hand, there were twenty-three men who went through the war and then decided to study dentistry. Our Freshman year? We prefer to forget that. Sophomores? Several poor devils from former years returned to keep us company. Then, of course, that shining beacon, the Junior Year and Clinic. Well, we've had about enough of that too. Charts with no appointments, broken appointments, Dr. Little and that supreme moment—the first extraction. What matters it if the tooth would have fallen out in a day or two anyway? It was the first extraction.

Now the Senior Year looms before us, like the Junior Year, only more so, AND THEN THE WHITE DENTAL UNIT! Who cares that we have grown old in the service of the profession? Who cares that our feet are flatter, our eyes weaker, our hair thinner? Nevertheless, our dream is still before us.

CLASS HISTORY

With that sacred motto ringing in our ears, "Get Another Tooth," we take leave of the Sophomore Year and wander onto the hallowed horizons of the clinic floor. May our patients' screams be as inaudible as those of our dentoforms as we pulled the tooth and started our preparation anew! From the marble topped desks of the Sophomore Laboratory we move our equipment to the basement floor and gaze to the floor above with commingled cogitations.

At long last we shan't have to stumble up the dark stairs of the Egyptian Building. But ne'er will we forget that a fatty liver isn't always the result of overeating, that atrophy is a diminution in size and number of anything, and necrosis isn't something you catch on a date. Even dental students know that!

Crown and bridge, operative, and prosthetics are never-to-be-forgotten subjects after those long hours in the lab. Checks were few and far between with the seeming policy of "an eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth, and a crown for a crown." Yes, our fate was cast in gold and often came out with sh! margins.

Continuing last year's trend, the class, one by one, drifted further toward a married pandemonium with "Nooner" King and "Flashlight" Marshall to show the way.

Under expert guidance and encouragement we have been led to the clinic door. With only two more bridges to cross—and we must build them too—we came closer to the degree, Doctor of Dental Surgery.

ON Monday, September 8, 1947, we forty-eight veterans arrived at McGuire Hall to begin a new and more interesting phase of training in the accomplishment of our goal in our chosen profession.

World War II was over, but with all branches of the Armed Forces well represented in our Freshmen Class, the old controversial question of “who won the war” came up frequently during the first two weeks of school. Finally we were too busy to fight past wars and all forces merged for the four-year battle ahead, and for a common objective: Destination Graduation.

As the year wore on, the light finally dawned on many topics which were at one time as confusing to us as the first lecture on the autonomic nervous system. Soon it was understood that a “carious lesion” was a disease of the teeth and rarely ever resulted in death. The abbreviated form of conversation carried on by the upper classmen, with regard to what goes on in the clinic, was made more understandable by knowledge gained in oral anatomy and denture prosthesis. Our initiation into the clinic for a couple of periods was a fascinating and invaluable experience—we learned that one must have more fingers than thumbs in order to work in a mouth.

We had many new experiences. True, we did extract a few crowns, and we did have to chisel the impression compound from a couple of unfortunate classmates’ mouths. But still, we were learning.

Passing out cigars by members of the Freshmen Class has not yet become a “passing fancy,” but it has been a means of explaining the beaming expression on the faces of three new fathers. Being a father in this class is not too unusual, because twenty-five of the men in the class are married.

In addition to our talent that appeared in the faculty take-off, we have the vocal harmonizers of the “Gruesome Twosome” and the “Terrible Trio.” Some of the better Broad Street novelty shops have maintained a flourishing business through the generosity of our promising “Sight-of-hand” tricksters (or magicians). Such extra curricular activities have been helpful in relieving the tension of many long hours of hard work.

CLASS HISTORY

"SON, your record proves that you are a smart boy. You will make out all right if you work hard," encouraged the Dean as we began our first year in Pharmacy School with its mad whirl of new faces, atomic theories, chemical formulas, and fraternity Hell Week. Although not many of us entered the Medical College during the same year, our experiences have been similar.

During our Sophomore Year, there were few of us who escaped a pat on the back and "Son, something seems to be troubling you." Yes, we had our little problems. Wartime uncertainty kept us in a turmoil. Any day we expected to be called from our battle with the pulleys and centrifugal force of physics or from the aromatic dissection of the cat, into the war against imperialism.

Before most of us left to go into the service we had been introduced to enough pharmacy subjects to realize that the sign of the Rx held a meaning for us. We had caught sight of the role we wished to play later in life as individuals if we intended to continue in our chosen profession.

As we drifted back one by one to Pharmacy School from the war, we encountered Sophomore subjects in the Junior Class, a mixed up schedule which couldn’t last, dispensing, galeinal, pharmacog too, with a revised faculty and a Dean who was new. Renovations in the school accentuated by individual changes in us necessitated readjustment. It took time, and much guidance and patience on the part of our professors before we could get back into the swing of school life.

By continual plugging we managed to become Seniors. Football season with the usual question, "How many points will you give me on Carolina?" ushered in the fall quarter. It didn’t take our President Eddie Booth long to realize that it was dangerous business to juggle bottles on the elevator en route to Biochem Lab.

There were few Seniors who took in a Thursday night movie when we had Dr. Kaufman’s Friday morning quizzes staring us in the face. Never will we forget the healthy tongue lashing we received one Friday morning concerning dispensing and those frightful black marks.

From December until the fateful March 6th, when our train pulled out, we talked of our trip to Indianapolis. When asked how much the trip would cost, Dr. Smith replied, "Enough to get you saturated— with food, that is."

After we returned from our exciting excursion, midnight hours were spent in Drug Assay Lab working toward those 400 points. June, with "Stew Week," and graduation rolled around in short order.

Although it was difficult to realize that we had completed four years in Pharmacy School, it was gratifying to know that at long last we could start to practice our chosen profession.

CLASS HISTORY

Our class began its Junior Year with an inventory of one new face and forty-one old ones. Right off the bat we began our struggle with microscopic visions of little animals and powdered drugs. At the end of our first quarter we gave up this eye-tiring work and started on our first real adventure in dispensing, met up with “Galloping Galen,” and started our battle with incompat. Of course, we became guinea pigs again this year, a new course of pharmaceutical adjuncts—poor guinea pigs—now we know what they go through.

Cupid, as usual, played havoc with our bachelors and old maids. After Christmas we had two Hargises in our class. Doris came up with a diamond. George and A. B. both came back hitched, while Tommy and "Hamp" announced their intentions. During the year there were additions to the Martin and Garland families, and "Chigger" was added to the Hicks family.

Amidst train confusion and the problems of roommates, our class accompanied the Seniors on a tour of Eli Lilly Company and other "hot" spots in Indianapolis. This trip was of educational value in many unique ways. Of course our cabin party at Miss Cary's, the night before our departure, prepared us for the "spirit" of the trip.

Consequently, we have survived three years of this grueling struggle; in fact, we actually enjoyed most of it. Now we are looking forward to next year with highest hopes of being Seniors.

CLASS HISTORY

We had been forewarned that the Sophomore Year was a "tough nut to crack," and now we know it! Not all of our beginning classmates succeeded in "cracking the nut," but they should be given credit for their effort. The transfer students were, to say the least, puzzled and confused the first few weeks at the few peculiar ways of MCV. At last we have reached the crest of the hill, and now we view the future with more of a gleam in our eyes.

Since this book will mean more to us in future years as a reminder of our college days, it is fitting to recall some of the famous expressions and traits of our professors. There is Dr. Hughes with his famous "more or less" and "generally speaking"; Dr. Peple and his "Kings of Israel"; Dr. Moore and his perpetual "pledge"; Mr. Pitts who is rarely seen without his Homburg, gloves, and cane; Dr. Kaufman whose pants are becoming inversely proportional to his waist line; Mr. Cosby and his "mass is proportional to the force"; and last but not least, Dr. Thomas and his bow tie which is always at a tangent—and who could forget that laugh?

With all of the flow sheets in "Qual.", dissections in "Cat" anatomy, steam generators and condensers in physics, and other tasks too numerous to mention, time for social activities has been limited, but we managed to throw a "big one" here and there. So this year hasn't been entirely all work and no play.

Now that our Sophomore Year is behind us, and it has indeed been a fast one, we are eager to greet the Junior Year in anticipation of more knowledge to gain our objective as future pharmacists.

CLASS HISTORY

We started our college career on September 15, 1947, when we nervously approached the door of the School of Pharmacy. Our class began with sixty-one hearty students in preparation for their life's work. We have come from many walks of life with different ideas and ideals.

It only took a few days for the members of the class to become acquainted, but we had a party at Murphy's Hotel just to be sure. The social activities of the college—fraternity and school dances, and parties—keep the four schools of MCV united.

The past holds many memories which we shall cherish for years to come. None of us could forget the friendly "get-togethers" at Shaia's for a card game, or the great attraction of the "pin-ball machine." It seems that the word "tilt" has a new and greater significance to the fellows now. An odd sensation runs through our minds when we hear the tingle of coins during Dr. Hughes' true and false biology quizzes. We never will understand how Malone kept Professor Pitts confused in chemistry.

The task has been difficult through the year, but there are still fifty-three of the original class members to carry our aims into the Sophomore Year. We have had our good days and bad days, but we always came through with smiling faces. We have had to study both day and night for almost nine months and are ready for a vacation, but we shall be happy to come back again next September.

We feel sure that at the end of four years we will have found the hidden treasure, and until then we shall strive to accomplish honors for the School of Pharmacy that will be remembered for years to come.

To Teacher and Friend:
With deepest appreciation and gratitude, for understanding, friendliness and untiring effort this section is dedicated by the Class of 1948.
"Neophyte, arise!" And Neophytes we were—converts to the nursing profession. Three years ago—and yet, some days are easily recalled.

Our orientation and pre-clinical schedule allowed us but a few moments of evening conviviality before Brer Morpheus took over. There was little time to realize how much of a sorority we were to become. After sharing the same duties, living and studying together, was it any wonder that an esprit de corps developed?

Tempus fugit and the enlightened Juniors were black-banned into semi-omnipotent Seniors. Their mutual interests were numerous. In deriving vicarious pleasure from the good fortune of one of our classmates, we perfumed the laments of those who had "troubles." From the associations within our class and from our hospital work, new concepts of life were evolved.

In terms of T.P.R.'s, H.W.D.'s, and Q.I.D.'s the years have not been brief. But when considering the pleasure of serving and learning, of late night confabs in the dorm, and of gay times at the S.U.B., one almost wishes they would not end. Commencement presents to each of us a challenge to surpass those who have gone before. It is our hope that we shall meet it.

CLASS HISTORY

As our Junior Year draws to a close, we are at times tempted to review various experiences and accomplishments of the past year. Each class has its own share of successes, disappointments, heartaches, and even backaches, and ours was no exception.

For us there were moments of bitter disappointment and discouragement—times when each of us wanted to give up what we had already gained. However, before it was too late, we realized that everything in life has its ups and downs and that three years isn’t so long after all.

As we began to spend more time on the wards and special services, our class became more and more separated. There were times when we didn’t see some members of our class for days at a time because of the different working schedules we had. Nevertheless we managed to keep up a good class spirit and laugh together over our many class jokes.

Some of the highlights... remember?

The wonderul poise Inez displayed when confronted with a very embarrassing situation on 5 South; Pat Martin’s most embarrassing moment—contaminating Miss Spivey in neuro; Liz Booker’s “Get Slim Quick Diets”; Ethel’s lesson in “Draping the Patient” in gyn. clinic; and Zet’s hypochondriacal complaints around exam week.

Other memories...

...Trying to get the cigarette machine to work at 2:00 a.m. (much to the vexation of sleepers); the many, many bull sessions after work or a dance with the chief topic ranging from men to men; and last, but not least, our first “Scrub.”

And now with graduation in the not too distant future, we realize that the going may still be tougher and the responsibilities heavier, but as Seniors we won’t mind anything too much.

OUR octad of February, 1947, was hardly noticeable in the abyss of Cabaniss Hall; but we were there.

Quite suddenly our instructors swamped us with anatomy (via the fetus) and nursing arts (via the enema), but with wobbly grace our heads remained above the murky mire. The first trip on our duty was memorable to all of us, especially the two who unceremoniously received showers in the small side rooms of 3 South.

After numerous mishaps to each of us, we reached the end of our pre-clin period. A never-to-be-forgotten moment of our capping exercises was the inspiring welcome received from Miss Ruth Dalrymple on behalf of the Nursing School.

Following vacation we sailed forth into Freshman Classes and duties. The new caps became heavy when we realized the responsibilities they brought upon us. We tried to hold our heads high after telling a Resident to find his own equipment and running our legs off for a med-student with thinning hair. When the new pre-clinicals arrived we gleefully rubbed our hands and leered at them, for their long row was just beginning. Secretly we prayed they would soon be assigned to ward duty.

Months passed; slow, stubborn weeks sadly yielded to our Junior Year. The first days of relief and night duty left their unforgettable mark upon our well-lined faces.

Still with unbounded determination we look forward to our next year as student nurses and to many more happy days at MCV.

Because of the ever increasing demand for public health nurses resulting from the efforts made to provide health-service for the total population of the nation, especially in rural areas, the department of public health nursing was established in January, 1944. The program of study meets the requirements of the National Organization for Public Health Nursing, and is accredited by that agency.

The objective of this program is to prepare well qualified graduate nurses for staff positions with public health agencies. It covers twelve months. Eight months are spent in class, where the nurse obtains the basic knowledge and understanding necessary to meet family health needs in rural and urban areas. Four months are spent in supervised field experience, the time being divided between two approved agencies, usually a visiting nurse service and a department of health. Although the public health nurse is essentially a health teacher and is interested in the prevention of disease, she also gives bedside nursing care to patients in their homes and assists doctors in public health clinics.

At the completion of the program the nurse accepts a position with a public health agency, or continues her studies for the Bachelor of Science degree in Nursing Education, for which the program of study in public health nursing is the major.
THE Medical College of Virginia Hospital offers a one year course in hospital dietetics to young women who have a B.S. degree from an accredited college or university and can meet certain specific course requirements. The course is approved by the American Dietetic Association, and upon completion, interns are eligible for membership in the association and may hold positions in grade A hospitals in the capacity of administrative, therapeutic, clinic or teaching dietitian.

At present we are able to accommodate only twelve girls who enter training in September of each year, and are housed in the John B. Newton House, one of our college dormitories. During training they receive one hundred and thirteen hours of lecture work, as well as practical experience in the various units. Instruction is given under the supervision of graduate dietitians in the Department of Dietetics.

Upon satisfactory completion of the course, dietetic interns are granted a certificate from the hospital division and are eligible for membership in the Medical College of Virginia Alumni Association.

THE School of Medical Technology is now celebrating its first anniversary. True, there have been student technicians at MCV for many years, but it is only in the past year that there has been a really organized school, and we are now members of the MCV student body.

A sixteen months' course accredited by the Registry of Medical Technologists is offered, and is designed to equip the student for general hospital laboratory service. Among the services included are clinical pathology, hematology, bacteriology, serology, biochemistry, histological technique, E.K.G., B.M.R. and blood bank.

At the termination of the course students are eligible for the registration examination of the American Society of Clinical Pathologists.

In the modern practice of medicine the technician is becoming increasingly more important as evidenced by the number of laboratory tests requested by physicians. Quite often a complex diagnostic problem may be solved with the aid of a relatively simple laboratory procedure.
THE Department of Radiology offers a twelve months' practical apprenticeship in x-ray technic and therapy to a selected number of young women graduates of accredited high schools. The course includes x-ray physics, technic, anatomy, physiology, filing, management and ethics applicable to a general department of radiology. Certain students are invited to spend a second year in the department in preparation for the examinations of the American Registry of X-Ray Technicians and the designation of R.T. (Registered Technician).
THE Student Government has four administrative officers, a president, vice-president, secretary, and treasurer, who are elected annually from the senior classes of the Schools of Medicine, Dentistry, Pharmacy, and Nursing respectively. These officers are empowered by the Constitution of the Student Body to act on all matters pertaining to the general welfare of students. These activities are carried on through an Executive Committee, a Board of Publications, and the Honor Council.

The Executive Committee, being formed from the officers of the Student Body and a representative from each class of the four schools, has as its function the administrative supervision of Student Body elections, and control of the Student Body funds, as well as directing the business affairs concerning Student Government.

The Board of Publications includes officers of the Student Government, three faculty members, two alumni, and the editor and business manager of each publication. It is the duty of this board to see that the publications are properly managed and to provide stability and continuity of control from year to year.

Each school is represented by its own Honor Council, the members being elected from each class of that particular school. Although the Honor System is essentially a means of self-discipline, the Honor Councils are necessary for the interpretation of the Honor Code and for the punishment of such infractions as may occur. The Student Body officer of each school is chairman of his respective Honor Council.

CONGRATULATIONS. Class of '48! From the chrysalis of 'student,' you now emerge as full-fledged professional men and women, many of you to enter immediately upon the practice of that profession for which you have been training during your four years at M. C. V., following the many years of prior preparation. Many of you will continue that training in an advanced degree for an additional one or more years. Having achieved the grades and other prerequisites which have entitled you to receive that coveted, hard-worked-for sheepskin, you are considered, in the eyes of the world, qualified to assume the responsibilities attendant upon the attainment of professional status. The Medical College of Virginia has placed her stamp of approval upon you and it is expected that you will uphold the standards of the school of your choice. You will doubtless find—possibly, surprisingly so to you—that your Alma Mater will be an "Open Sesame" on many occasions.

As you begin to apply the tools of knowledge placed in your hands at M. C. V., you may possibly experience a temporary sensation of bewilderment, of uncertainty as to which tools should be used, and when, and where. Definite decisions will be yours to make, without assistance, often in times of emergency. Competition will meet you at many turns in the road. Let none of these dismay you, for, from the storehouse of your memory will emerge, in brilliant clarity, a lecture, an incident, an experience, the wise counsel of a professor, which will enable you to meet the occasion with confidence, born of a purpose to uphold the pledge you take at your graduation.

Do not permit over-confidence to regulate your actions; rather, remember in humility that, when you applied for entrance at M. C. V., competition was at an all-time high and that a heavy responsibility rested upon those who approved your application and in the selection of you as a member of this class; that utmost confidence and faith was placed in you, over many who were equally well qualified. Be ever proud of and grateful for the opportunity given you to achieve your ambition and give to your every endeavor throughout the future your best, most sincere, conscientious effort.

The very earnest, sincere wishes of the entire membership of the Alumni Association (of which you, too, will be a member upon your graduation from M. C. V.), are yours for success in abundance and joy in your every endeavor throughout the future.
The R. O. T. C. Unit was re-established in the fall of 1946, having been discontinued during the war years. The first reserve officers to be commissioned in the postwar R. O. T. C. Program are from the Class of 1948. The course includes one hour of didactic instruction in the many phases of military medicine, and a six weeks' summer training camp at Fort Sam Houston, San Antonio, Texas. Many graduates have been accepted as interns in army general hospitals.
THE Medical College of Virginia Y. M. C. A. with directors and a paid secretary was organized in 1916. Mr. Mimms W. Lee, who was then state Y. M. C. A. secretary, was influential in helping a group to get it started. The first secretary was Mr. Phil B. Trigg, who served until 1920, when he was succeeded by Mr. Walter C. Craile. The latter served for one year and was followed by Mr. Karl T. Sallenger who remained for the next two years, 1921-25. In September 1925 we were quite fortunate in obtaining the services of our present secretary, Mr. Jonah L. Larrick, who as a capable and able leader has guided the activities of the association for the past twenty-five years.

The association as an independent corporation with twelve directors was granted a charter on April 16, 1918. One of its bold undertakings followed in 1919 when it ran a cafeteria and a dormitory for seventy students. At first the budget had to be raised by subscriptions, and the association had to justify its existence. A student membership in the Central Y at about half the cost to others, the taking over of the cost of athletics by the student athletic association in 1925, and the very material aid rendered by the Richmond Community Chest, all helped to ease a very heavy burden carried at first. In December 1928 the association became a branch of the Richmond Y and allowed its charter to lapse.

In the 1922-23 Faculty and Student Directory one reads: "This little book is dedicated to Dr. Ennion G. Williams whose zeal as State Health Commissioner has been surpassed only by his devotion, loyalty, and faithfulness and untiring service as Chairman of the Board of Directors of our Association since its organization." Mr. Robert F. McCracken served as chairman of the board the next twenty-six years being followed by the present incumbent, Dr. L. Ben Sheppard in March 1948. Dr. Karl S. Blackwell was probably the most outstanding supporter of the Y as seen through its entire history. He would not accept the chairmanship of the College Y board, but served as vice-chairman several times. He taught a bible class in the student dormitory for a while, contributed liberally in all campaigns for funds, and gave many hours of his time to Y work. He left the board for larger service in the Richmond Y. On the wall of the Central Y one may read: "In loving memory of Dr. Karl S. Blackwell, Devoted President of the Richmond Y, M. C. A. 1922-1949." Space does not permit the naming of many hundreds of others who have made the Y a success.
This year the Athletic Association celebrated its twenty-fifth anniversary. The organization was born in 1925, and has emerged today as a full-blown activity of all the schools of MCV.

The aim of the Athletic Association is to create play, relaxation, exercise and diversion, and to supply the spirit which accompanies any sports contest. A full schedule of inter-collegiate play is maintained for men's basketball and baseball, and girl's basketball. The Athletic Association also supervises intra-mural basketball and softball.

In 1924, Dr. William H. Parker became Graduate Manager, a position which he still holds, and under his able leadership and guidance the sports program has made tremendous advances.

The success of an athletic season is not measured by the number of games won or lost, but by the pleasure derived from participation in, or watching contests. Much of the success during the past twenty-five years must be attributed to the efforts of a great friend and an enthusiastic leader, Jonah L. "Father" Larrick.
THE MCV Varsity Basketball Team for 1947-48 hung up the best record achieved by a local team in some years. Under the careful direction of Ben Judy, senior medical student and newly appointed coach, the Green and White marched to fourteen victories against but two defeats.

The winning combination was no surprise to young Coach Judy. He knew he could count on such veteran performers as forwards Earl Allara and Bill Helsabeck, center Burr McClellan and guards Charlie Moses and John Stoneburner, who were mainstays in previous years. But in addition Judy developed such new stars as Harold Miller, Roland Elliott, John Darden, et al., to give the Medics the reserve strength sorely needed in Little Six competition, and sadly lacking in other campaigns.

Four of the Medics’ victories were from Little Six opponents, the highlights of the season being the 88-80 rout of Lynchburg College at the “Y”, and the thrilling 51-50 win over Randolph-Macon in Ashland. The latter was the second straight defeat for the Yellow Jackets at the hands of their traditional rivals.

Only the formidable Hampden-Sydney quintet was able to blemish the Medics’ record, taking a pair of hard-fought contests by scores of 58-40 and 62-45. When it came to games with other Richmond opponents, the Docs made mincemeat of the best competition any local outfit could offer.

Big guns in the Green and White scoring attack, which averaged 61 points per game, were Earl Allara and Burr McClellan. Earl switched in 246 points and Burr followed with 219. Freshman Harold Miller chipped in with 145, while guards Charlie Moses and John Stoneburner accounted for 98 and 95 points respectively.

Two stellar performers, Moses and J. B. Adams, rounded out their court careers with MCV this season. Both are veterans of four years of play and will be sorely missed in the future by local fans.

At the close of a highly successful season, the 1947 edition of the Intramural Basketball Cup went to the great Junior Med quintet. The Meds swept through seven straight victories without a defeat against the best competition all other classes had to offer.

In all, fifty-six interclass contests were played on the Y.M.C.A. floor by the eight teams entered, and a total of eighty-seven men went into action on the court. Not a single forfeit went on the record books and team spirit was high from beginning to end. The individual scoring derby was again won by Earl Allara, the Junior Med hurricane from lager, W. Va. Earl had 121 points in seven games, while teammate Burr McClellan swished in 90. Harold Miller, of the Fresh Meds was a close third with 87 tallies.

Last year's winners, the Junior-Senior Pharmacy five, couldn't get going in the new season and won only two starts. They lost a close 32-29 thriller to the champs-to-be on the opening night.

The Senior Meds, paced by J. B. Adams, Bill Amonette and Ben Judy, showed enough strength to place second in the league, with five wins and two losses.

This marked the second time in three years that the Junior Meds have come out on top of a season's play. They copped the crown as Freshmen in 1945 after a play-off with the Junior Dental five, but had to be content with tying for second place in the 1946 campaign.

“Big Wheels” Turn Out Too
1948 was a busy year for M.C.V.'s basketball girls. The nurses, under the able tutelage of Coach Dick Penick, played a full fifteen-game schedule, lasting from early in January till the middle of March. The final tabulation showed six victories and nine losses for the campaign.

Looking sharp in their new uniforms of Kelly green, and playing sharp on the hardwoods, the medicettes made a good showing against some of the best sextettes in Richmond. Most of the games were with teams of the fast-moving Municipal Girls' League, and not a "breather" was played all season. Their best games were against the strong McGuire Hospital six, when they led 17-15 at half-time only to fall behind in the last quarter, and the thrilling 19-18 win over the Federal Reserve Bank, when Shirley Galligher personally accounted for thirteen points.

Shirley was top scorer for the season with a total of 94 points. Not far behind was Connie Thompson who rang up 70 scores in 13 games. Della Dixon and Pat Dailey came through with 38 markers apiece, while two newcomers, Billie White and Mickey Hawthorne helped out with totals of 32 and 19 points respectively.

As usual, the girls who play backcourt are the unsung heroines. Though they don't figure directly in the scoring, the guards deserve tremendous credit for their fine work. Captain Doris Posey was mainstay of the Medicette's defense all season. Ably assisting her were: Ferne White, Carol Thompson, Bev. Lackey, Izetta Couch, and others, who bore the brunt of the defensive work. Doris was sorely missed when she was transferred late in the season.

Time Out

...And His Mind is On Basketball
ALTHOUGH baseball at M.C.V. is just getting underway as this goes to press, Coach Don Miller's nine is looking forward to a big season. The Green and White of the diamond have a twelve-game schedule on tap, meeting most of their traditional rivals.

Coach Miller has plenty of veterans on hand and can point with pride to his mound corps. Big Earle Smith and Henry Aldrich should mow 'em down again, and a new hurler, Jake Pearce, looks like the real thing. In the infield will be veterans Burr McClellan at third, Nubby Gouldin at short and Dave Palmstrom at first. Doug Thomas, a regular last year, may break in again. At second Coach plans to use O. C. Bayne, a novice who can really hit and field. Bill Helsabeck, who hit over .400 last year, will be back in right field and in the cleanup spot. Harley Tomey, another veteran, may get the call in left. Henry Chapell and Chico Portela top the list of new candidates for the outfield. Bob Layman, veteran receiver, will probably start back of the platter, and should get a lot of help from Mac McAllister.

We can't give you the record, because the printers are waiting for this copy. All we can say is "Best of luck, you Medicos!"
THE Medical College of Virginia Chorus, one of the most recently formed organizations of the college, was begun in the fall of 1946. Members of the choral group include students from all schools in the college, and any student who likes to sing is invited to join.

Activities of the Chorus include the annual Easter Cantata, Christmas programs, and special selections at various assemblies for the student body. The repertoire of the group at the present time is approximately thirty-five selections.

Dr. Erling S. Hegre, Assistant Professor of Anatomy in the School of Medicine, is director and advisor, as well as morale-builder of the group. He has had rather wide musical experience, having previously directed several church choirs.

DELTA SIGMA DELTA, national dental fraternity, was founded at the University of Michigan in 1882. Omicron Omicron Chapter was established at the Medical College of Virginia in 1951.
In 1892, Psi Omega, national dental fraternity, was founded at the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery. Gamma Omicron, the local chapter, was established at the Medical College of Virginia in 1908.
THE first record of a dental students organization at the Medical College of Virginia is found in the annual report for the scholastic year 1934-35. Since that time several periods of inactivity have occurred, one of which was during the recent war.

In the fall of 1946, a group of students and faculty members organized the present Dental Students Society. Membership is extended to all students in the School of Dentistry. Those in the society are automatically made members of the student section of the American Dental Association.

The officers of the society and two representatives from each class form an Executive Committee whose function it is to deal with matters of importance concerning student activities in the School of Dentistry.

The aim of the Dental Students Society is to promote scholarship and professionalism among the members of the student body.
THE Student Branch of the American Pharmaceutical Association at the Medical College of Virginia, School of Pharmacy is designed to offer programs of interest to the student concerning topics related to pharmacy and science. It is organized and run by the students, enlisting the help of the faculty whenever necessary.

The organization is a member of the National American Pharmaceutical Association and receives much attention from those who lead in the national organization. Consequently this puts the Student Branch in the unique position of introducing to the prospective pharmacist some of the outstanding groups of aid to the pharmacists of America.

This year has been quite an eventful one for A. Ph. A. We have been fortunate in obtaining several outstanding speakers on topics of specific interest to the pharmacist not usually covered in the regular school curricula. Thus the Student Branch of A. Ph. A. has become an integral part of the School of Pharmacy, and will prove to be of definite value to the student as he prepares for his career in pharmacy.

Kappa Psi, national pharmaceutical fraternity, was founded at Russell Military Academy in 1876. The Theta Chapter was organized at the Medical College of Virginia in 1879.

During the war years the chapter was relatively inactive, being kept alive at one time by only two members. This year Theta Chapter has again risen to the point of being the largest and most active of the group. The social activities have been few due largely to the lack of a house and the present high cost of entertainment, but the few that were given are reported to have been the best of all times.

Concerning professional and scholastic achievements this chapter strives to put those ideals ahead of all others, and in the coming years we hope this will become more evident in the records of alumni which we regard today and always as brothers in Kappa Psi.

Phi Gamma Epsilon, a local organization for women of the School of Pharmacy, was founded at the Medical College of Virginia in 1945. It succeeded Delta Kappa Phi which was organized here three years previously.
THE Mortar and Pestle Club had its beginning during the school year, 1908-09, when a small group of students of the Department of Pharmacy of the University College of Medicine met together and formed a fraternity organization. After the amalgamation, in 1913, of the University College of Medicine and the Medical College of Virginia, the group was known as the Pharmaceutical Association of the Medical College of Virginia. Later the name was changed to the Mortar and Pestle Club.

Every student in the School of Pharmacy is a member of this organization, the purpose of which is to promote interest in the work of the college and in the field of pharmacy, and to create a bond of closer fellowship among members of the student body. Each year the club sponsors debates and social functions, as well as addresses by outside speakers.

THE purpose of this chapter is to acquire the interest, support, and active membership of the wives of resident students in the Medical College of Virginia; to promote social, educational and cultural interests; to foster any charitable service which the organization may deem advisable; and to give the members a clearer appreciation of the wife’s place in the professional world.
Alpha Sigma Chi, honorary leadership fraternity, was founded at the Medical College of Virginia in 1937.

The prime purpose of this society is to serve the college and student body, and to recognize those students who have demonstrated the qualities of leadership in the promotion of student activities.

A spirit of fellowship and cooperation is created among the students, with the hope that this will be carried out into their respective professional relationships.
The Gamma Chapter of Sigma Zeta, National Honorary Scientific Society, was organized at the Medical College of Virginia in 1926. Incorporating all four schools, it recognizes unusual scholarship in the field of science.

What Is a Doctor’s Investment?

In addition to long years of hard work and preparation, it is estimated by one authority that a doctor’s investment in his profession is approximately $30,000.

The doctor’s investment is unlike that of a business man who can show a tangible business property that can be sold when he wants to retire, or at death, whereas the value of a physician’s business, except for office equipment and furniture, lies solely in his ability to earn during his earning years.

How, then, can a doctor protect his investment for absolute security? The sure way is through ownership of adequate life insurance to safeguard against the two inevitable threats to every man—death or old age. For absolute protection of your investment for future security, buy all the life insurance you can. An Atlantic Life representative will be happy to assist in planning your life insurance estate.

"IS THIS PRODUCT COUNCIL ACCEPTED?"

This is the first question many physicians ask the detail man, when a new product is presented.

If the detail man answers, "No," the doctor saves time by saying, "Come around again when the Council accepts your product."

If the detail man answers, "Yes," the doctor knows that the composition of the product has been carefully verified, and that members of the Council have scrutinized the label, weighed the evidence, checked the claims, and agreed that the product merits the confidence of the physician. The doctor can ask his own questions, and make his own decision about using the product, but not only has he saved himself a vast amount of time but he has derived the benefit of a fearless, expert, fact-finding body whose sole purpose is to protect him and his patient.

No one physician, even if he were qualified, could afford to devote so much time and study to every new product. His Council renders this service for him, freely. Nowhere else in the world is there a group that performs the functions so ably served by the Council on Pharmacy and Chemistry and the Council on Foods.

Mead Johnson & Company cooperates with both Councils, not because we have to but because we want to. Our detail men can always answer: "Yes, this Mead Product is Council-Accepted."
“Don’t Put All Your Eggs in One Basket”

Many years ago, when a man wished to invest a portion of his earnings in security for the future, there was a proverb which warned him: “Don’t put all your eggs in one basket!” But today that old proverb has been outmoded with the modern facilities of life insurance. Yes, that’s one of the fine things about life insurance—a man can “put all his eggs in one basket!” When he has provided for his own and his family’s financial independence through life insurance, he is certain of the future, and he can feel free to spend the rest of his income for his own and his family’s enjoyment. A Home Beneficial agent has a plan to fit your needs and your budget. Let him help you plan a program of security for yourself and your family.

In Appreciation

THE Staff of the 1948 X-RAY wish to express their sincere appreciation for the help and cooperation of those who were instrumental in facilitating the publication of this volume. We feel, however, that special mention should be made of the following individuals:

Mr. Edgar Nash and Mr. William Stith of Everett Wadley Company.

Mr. Fred I. Minardi of White Studio.

Mr. Melvin Shaffer and Mr. Emanuel Gerard of the Department of Visual Education of the Medical College of Virginia.

We also wish to thank our Advertisers, for their loyal support has aided greatly in making this annual possible. They deserve our patronage.

CHARLES L. WILLIAMS,
Editor
